

Vetiver Grass stabilizing a frequently flooded unsealed road. Previously, the road required regular repairs, now it requires no maintenance.

Apart from stabilizing the edge of the road, the vetiver is also trapping sediments, which settle on the road filling holes previously scoured out by the flowing water.

Note the sediments that have settled inside the white line...